

Children As Philosophers

“Enable learners to engage in a creative process of inquiry within a collaborative and supportive community”

KA2 Strategic Partnership Project

Eight partners from six countries are working collaboratively to develop and share their knowledge and skills in order to:

- increase key competences for children in order for them to fully participate in and contribute to a multicultural society
- develop a robust and tangible methodology that employs methods that support the development of basic skills through the use of inquiry-based philosophy skills and creating thinking techniques
- equip teaching and non-teaching staff with a range of skills, key principles and relevant methodologies.
